

Ex-Convict Kills Three Persons In Night Spot

Slays Two Victims
Cowering on Floor
Begging for Mercy

CHICAGO (AP) — An ex-convict, blasting away with a double-barreled shotgun, shot and killed three persons in a jazzy night spot early today. Two of his victims were cowering on the floor begging for mercy.

The third victim, an unidentified newsboy, about 35 years old, tried to stop the killer from escaping. He was gunned down on the sidewalk.

Detective Paul Doleman said the killer was identified by witnesses as ex-convict Lawrence Neumann, 28.

He walked into the Miracle Bar, North Side nightspot which features a "Dixieland" style jazz band, shortly after 2 o'clock with the shotgun in his hands.

"I'm going to kill everyone in the place," witnesses quoted him.

Plead for Their Lives
Max Epstein, 54, co-owner of the cocktail lounge, dropped to the floor behind the bar.

He was begging for mercy. The gunman calmly stepped onto the bar rail and, leaning over, killed Epstein with a blast in the back.

Lots M. Gates, 28, who operated the Miracle Bar's "26 game," a dice game, also fell to the floor, screaming his plea for life. She died with a shotgun blast in the neck.

The gunman then whirled on the eight patrons in the bar and bartender Raymond Steinhoff. Many of them were also on the floor.

He seemed about to open fire again, Steinhoff said, but then changed his mind. He started walking out and at that moment the newsboy threw open the front door.

It appeared the newsboy had heard the shots and was trying to block the killer's path. But the gunman pushed him out onto the sidewalk and cut him down with a blast in the side.

Carried a Grudge
Witnesses said the murderer fled on foot down a long alley which runs along the elevated tracks. Police threw a dragnet about the area, which includes swank lake-shore apartment houses, and also sent squad cars patrolling the city in the search for Neumann.

Doleman said Neumann apparently wanted to kill Epstein because the tavern owner had had him arrested for brawling in the bar last May 9.

Neumann was released from jail May 25. Police had tried to keep tabs on him, but described him as a will-o'-the-wisp. They said he had served time in prison about a year ago on robbery charges.

Police said the slain 26-year-old has an 8-year-old daughter, Dale. Miss Gates' sister, Mrs. Jerry Rath, Meadowdale, Ill., is caring for the child, police said.

BATTLE OF GLADIATORS:

Mr. Universe Loses Fight in Mae West's Club; Wins Jayne Mansfield's Affections

NEW YORK (AP) — Mr. Universe, a fallen gladiator, came home with a black eye today to actress Jayne Mansfield.

He was the loser to Mr. California in a Wednesday night fight in Mae West's night club dressing room in Washington but winner of the bosomy Miss Mansfield's affections.

The short but violent flurry of haymakers also knocked Miss West off her feet.

Mr. Universe, non-professionally known as Mickey Hargitay, 26, and weighing 230 pounds, didn't throw a punch. But he displayed a black eye and cut lip with three stitches from the "unexpected attack."

Mr. California, otherwise known as Chuck Krauser, 31, weighing 220 pounds, was released from Washington's Municipal Court on Miss West's arm, but less $300 in bond for a jury trial June 28.

Miss Mansfield, who said she is considering marriage to Mr. Universe, said she had the correct version "straight from Mickey."

She said there had been a news conference in Miss West's dressing room at the Casino Royal, where the 64-year-old Miss West is currently appearing with her troop of seven muscle men.

Miss West and Mr. California implied at the preliminary hearing that Mr. Universe resented being "demoted" in the troupe to make way for the new Mr. Universe to be chosen next week in Atlantic City, N. J.

The "demotion" allegedly came after Mr. Universe was linked romantically with Miss Mansfield.

"Mickey said he wouldn't return her (Miss West's) plea for affection," said Miss Mansfield.

"Mr. Krauser got mad and hit Mickey. Mickey wouldn't lower himself to hit back. He behaved like a gentleman and not like an animal."

The rumors flew up and down Broadway during the recent New York appearance of Miss West that Mr. Universe and Mr. California were vying for the "come up and see me some time" star's affections. And another that Miss West resented Mr. Universe's interest in Miss Mansfield, who is 23.

Everybody has denied everything.

Following his graduation he will intern at Cook County hospital in Chicago for one year.

Those who escaped fled to a safe section of the plant and ascended to the top of the 220-foot precipice in an elevator. A few scrambled up the cliff. Several were struck by rocks but none was seriously hurt.

Medical Care for GI Dependents Signed Into Law

Program Designed To Boost Morale
Of Armed Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has signed into law a big new government-paid medical care program for dependents of military personnel.

Dependents of GIs previously have had free medical and hospital care only when facilities were available at military installations.

The Pentagon said only 60 per cent of the three million dependents of servicemen are now receiving such care.

Under the new law, the Defense Department will contract for health and medical insurance plans under which dependents can receive care from civilian doctors at civilian hospitals when military facilities are not available.

Mr. Eisenhower has earmarked 76 million dollars in next year's budget to pay for the new program. It is expected to get underway in about six months.

The program is a major part of legislation Mr. Eisenhower requested to boost morale in the armed services.

The medical and hospital care will be provided for wives or husbands of military personnel, their children, and their parents or parents-in-law if the parents or parents-in-law are dependent and live in the same household.

The plan does not cover treatment by private doctors for ailments which normally do not require hospitalization.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Kenneth J. Gray (D-Ill.) said House-Senate conferees agreed Thursday to appropriate $250,000 for planning and a survey of sites for a new maximum security federal penitentiary somewhere in the Midwest.

Gray hopes the prison will be in his congressional district in southern Illinois. He said he hopes sites in his district will be among the first inspected. The prison is to cost about $9,500,000.

The conference committee took the action, Gray said, in working out a compromise between House and Senate bills carrying funds for the Justice Department.

To Receive Degree
In Medicine June 13

John A. Boczkiewicz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alex Boczkiewicz of Galatia, will receive his degree in medicine June 13 at Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University, Chicago.

He was graduated from the Galatia high school in 1944. After spending one term at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., he was called into the armed services for two years, one year of which was in Germany. He was a first lieutenant when he received his discharge.

Boczkiewicz attended pre-med at Southern Illinois University where he received his B. A. degree. He then entered Loyola where he received his Master of Science in 1953.

Following his graduation he will intern at Cook County hospital in Chicago for one year.

Evansville VHF
Channel Upheld

WASHINGTON — The award by the Federal Communications Commission of VHF Channel 7 at Evansville to Evansville Television Inc. has been upheld by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The court rejected pleas from UHF licensees at Evansville, Henderson and Louisville that the grant of a construction permit to Evansville Television Inc. be denied pending final settlement by the FCC of the UHF-VHF "deintermixture" question.

Evansville Television was the successful applicant for the VFW channel in a three-year-long competitive proceedings before the commission. A motion for reconsideration by the rejected VHF applicant, On the Air Inc., reported by has been denied by the FCC. However the agency has not made public its ruling.

The basic contention of the appellants was that the commission's action in 1952 in allocating nationwide VHF and UHF television channels had not met the requirement of public convenience and interest. As a result, they argued, the allocations must ultimately be revised.

Pending such a revision, which is now under study by the commission, the appellants contended the FCC should be required to "freeze" VHF construction permits in areas where UHF stations are operating.

Rock Slide Crushes Two Thirds of Niagara Power Plant; One is Killed

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—The wall of the lower Niagara gorge tore loose late Thursday, thundering hundreds of tons of rocks down on a huge hydroelectric plant and shearing two thirds of the building from the face of the cliff into the Niagara river.

One workman was swept to his death in the rapids when he was trapped in the roaring rock slide. However, 39 other workmen scrambled to safety as gigantic boulders crashed down on the Schoellkopf Hydroelectric company, a quarter mile below the cataract along the American shore.

The missing workman was tentatively identified as Richard Draper of Lewiston, N. Y. He and the others had been repairing water seepage in a canal-tunnel which funnels water to the station's dynamos from above the falls. The men were warned of the coming slide when windows in the plant started cracking like rifle shots.

Escape in Elevator
Those who escaped fled to a safe section of the plant and ascended to the top of the 220-foot precipice in an elevator. A few scrambled up the cliff. Several were struck by rocks but none was seriously hurt.

Two of the men said they saw the missing man being trapped by the rock slide but were powerless to help him.

Another man cut off from the elevator by the slide was hoisted up the face of the cliff by rescue workers using ropes.

Hundreds of sightseers on the rainbow bridge on the Canadian side of the falls opposite the power plant saw the cliff give way. Two more rock slides followed at five-minute intervals.

Largest State Plant
The plant was the largest of more than 80 hydroelectric power stations operated by the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. in New York State. Six generators with a combined capacity of more than 250,000 kilowatts were wrecked in the slide. All electrical power in the city of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was cut off. Power was partially restored later.

A Niagara Mohawk Corp. spokesman said the damage would be "in the millions."

A 75-foot long, 1 1/2 story terminal building at the top of the cliff was believed undermined by the rock slides. Workmen dismantled cables leading into the terminal to avert further power failures should the structure tumble into the gorge.

House Group
Approves Boost
In Vet Benefits
By United Press
The House Veterans Committee today approved a bill that would boost the cost of veterans' pension and other benefits by 1,400,000,000 the first year.

Committee sources said the extra costs would rise rapidly in succeeding years and would "easily exceed" a grand total of $100 billion by the year 2000.

The controversial bill, sponsored by the American Legion and strongly opposed by the administration, would grant a general pension of $105 a month for needy veterans on reaching age 65.

Elsewhere in Congress:
FOREIGN AID: The administration reluctantly abandoned its fight to get the House to restore the 1 billion dollar cut in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program, leaving that job up to the Senate.

The House Thursday rejected, 192-112, a compromise proposal to restore 600 million dollars of the slash. Final action on the bill is expected Monday.

PARKS: Administration spokesmen, urging approval of a 10-year expansion program to handle the flood of visitors, said the national parks "are being loved to death."

Wesley A. D'Ewart, assistant secretary of interior, told a Senate interior subcommittee the number of visitors increased from 350,000 in 1916 to 50,000,000 last year and may soar to 80,000,000 by 1966.

Mr. Jordan said that streets in Gaskins City and north Harrisburg, in middle Harrisburg and some in Dorrisville have been oil-redded and chipped under the sales tax revenue program. Now, he said, preparation is being made for this kind of work on about two miles of streets in Dorrisville.

President Appeared Enjoying Himself At Dinner, Merriman Smith Reports

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday night looked to me like a man who was feeling well and thoroughly enjoying himself.

I have watched him at a number of similar affairs and never seen him laugh more heartily than he did at the jokes of Bob Hope and the banter of the famous Negro singer, Pearl Bailey.

Mr. Eisenhower talked animatedly with the men next to him at the head table—Anthony Muto of 20th Century-Fox Movietone News, and Henry Burroughs of the Associated Press, the outgoing and incoming presidents of the association.

When the spotlights were on the President he seemed a trifle pale. But he appeared to be in bubbling good spirits.

He got a particular kick out of Bob Hope who told a side-splitting variety of political and golf gags.

Mr. Eisenhower laughed uproariously when Hope opened the show by saying: "Mr. President, gentlemen and fellow squirrel heads," a reference to a recent crack attributed to ex-President Truman in Italy.

Mr. Eisenhower got another big kick out of the way Hope kidded Sen. Estes Kefauver and his active primary campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Speaks Informally
At the conclusion of the dinner the President rose to speak informally. His voice was strong as he stood in the glare of the spotlight in a trim white dinner jacket.

He noted that Hope had said he was appearing in the show without pay.

"If he did," said the President who played golf with the comedian here last year, "they (the photographers) had to talk a long time and you would know it if you ever had to talk him out of a stroke on the first tee."

Mr. Eisenhower went back stage for a few minutes to congratulate the show's cast before motoring to the White House.

As the President drove away from the Sheraton Park Hotel, he seemed to the people around him like a man who had had a good time.

on streets that are in the plans for paving, and added he was sorry he would not be able to get to everybody who wants the oil-and-chip work done on his street.

The oil and chips, besides improving the street surface, eliminate a lot of dust during the dry months.

Mr. Jordan said that the soil cement surface has been laid on East Sloan street and that the first bituminous treatment has been poured. Next week, he said, the second and final bituminous surface is scheduled to be put on the street.

Besides this street, the Stille Construction Co. is to do some repair work on West O'Gara, which it paved late last summer, before it pulls out of town.

The Sloan and O'Gara street pavement projects are the ones set up for the 1955 program. The 1956 program calls for the completion of the South Main and Robinson project.

Hagerty Announces

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has a "partial obstruction" of the small intestine.

An electrocardiogram showed no change in his heart, it was announced.

As a "purely precautionary measure," however, Dr. Paul Dudley White, the President's heart specialist, has been called to Washington from Boston. He was expected to arrive tonight.

A group of civilian surgeons also is being called in, to determine whether surgery will be required on the President.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower suffered an intestinal ailment today and was ordered to the Army's Walter Reed Hospital "as a precautionary measure."

He was taken to the ambulance in an olive drab Army ambulance which left the White House at 1:30 p. m. EDT. Mrs. Eisenhower and their son John preceded him in a limousine.

The President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, arrived at the White House from his post at Ft. Belvoir, Va., at 1:15 p. m. just as Mrs. Eisenhower's car pulled out of the gate en route to the hospital. Major Eisenhower climbed out of his car, strode to the car carrying Mrs. Eisenhower and said, "Mother."

The limousine stopped and he climbed in with her.

Tito's Moscow Kowtow

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

While Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia gets the Kremlin's newly patented warm welcome in Moscow, we in America must look on with great misgivings.

Tito has not spoken the final word on his present relations with Russia, but his initial responses suggest he is leaning strongly toward a renewal of wholehearted friendship.

Should he, for all practical purposes, rejoin the Soviet camp it would be poor news for the West. Since his break with Russia in mid-1948 he has made military links with two NATO countries, Greece and Turkey. He has established close ties with other Western nations. And he has gained a billion dollars in economic and military aid from the United States.

It is quite possible, of course, that Tito may not reverse himself so completely. It is possible, too, that he may seem to do so but that the appearance may be deceiving.

No one in the West believes a "new" Russia has replaced the old, that the goal of world conquest has been abandoned. For hard-bitten Tito, a realist if there ever was one, to believe Soviet blandishments is almost incredible.

Certainly he could not have been fooled by the stage-managed resignation of Foreign Minister Molotov, timed for the eve of his Moscow arrival. Molotov, one of the architects of the Soviet-Yugoslav break, has not been in charge of Kremlin foreign policy for a year. (It would ill behoove us in the West to read the Molotov move any more encouragingly than Tito must. This is clearly another maneuver in a long series designed to sell the world on the "break with Stalinism.")

Some suggest that Tito may well believe that he is acting from strength, that he is now so fixed economically and militarily that he can deal with the Kremlin on his own terms. He may be gambling, in other words, that he can move closer to Russia without being gobbled up as just another satellite.

Whatever Tito does, it is the view of seasoned judges that the United States need have no regrets at having extended him one billion dollars since 1950.

This aid contributed heavily to his independence at a time when that was vital to the peace and security of Southeast Europe. It helped produce stability in that region when turmoil would have worked only to Russia's advantage.

In 1952, for example, Italy held its most critical postwar elections and the result might not have been favorable for the West had a Russian-dominated Yugoslavia been at Italy's border. By the same token, we could not have hoped for so reasonable a settlement of the thorny Trieste issue had Tito not at the time been detached from allegiance to Moscow.

Some feel that despite all this we should not give him another dollar if he gives even the appearance of lining up with Russia. Others think that since past aid has paid off we ought to gamble as Tito himself may be gambling.

That is the question we must now decide, not in rage at the changing face of things, but calmly and solemnly in the light of our best interest.

Nightmare

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Brownell Can't Explain His Snubbing Of Senate Judiciary Committee; Senators Want To Know Why He Delayed So Long On Civil Rights; Brownell Favors Civil Penalties, Not Criminal Action, To Defend Negro Voting Rights.

WASHINGTON. — The Brownell civil rights bill to protect the voting rights of Negroes in the South came in for some rigorous cross-examination when the Senate Judiciary committee finally hauled the attorney general before it. They almost had to use a block and tackle to get him there.

Brownell has ducked out on testifying before Senate committees almost as much as he has shied away from holding press conferences; so when the senators finally got him before them they gave the perspiring attorney general a bad time.

First, they wanted to know why he had delayed for months in answering their questions to him about civil rights. Second, they wanted to know why Brownell's civil rights bill didn't contain criminal penalties for denying the voting rights of Negroes. Instead, Brownell proposes civil action.

"You came out with what you heralded as a new administration civil rights program," reminded Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri. "At the time you did that, there were three bills that had been reported out—four bills indeed—by the subcommittee on constitutional rights."

"We put some thought into these matters. We did bring these way back in February."

"I wrote you this letter on April 9, following up some of the letters of 1955."

BROWNELL IS SILENT

Hennings then read a long letter to Brownell asking his opinion on the Senate's proposed civil rights legislation. Brownell, however, had no real reply.

"Thank you, senator," was all he said. "But I do want to know," pressed the senator from Missouri. "And I think I am entitled to know why we were consistently bypassed, why our letters were ignored, why we were given no assistance or help from the department which later unveiled with considerable publicity a new civil rights program."

"Now, on April 9, I took the liberty of addressing this letter to you, and I hold a copy of it in my hand."

Hennings then read the letter inviting Brownell to appear before the Judiciary subcommittee on April 10 at 10:30 a. m.

"We have no record of any reply to that letter," said Hennings. Brownell sat silent.

"On these measures, I think it fair to say, and I think you will agree with me, that we had no cooperation," Hennings concluded. Brownell gave no reply.

Hennings then changed the subject.

"I understand, Mr. Attorney General," he said, "that you are opposed to any penal provisions relating to acts which would intimidate, threaten, or force any person to vote contravention, or not to vote in a federal election."

Brownell finally answered this one. "We are not opposed to it, Senator," he said. "We think it is a matter of congressional consideration. We would not recommend it affirmatively to you at this time. We prefer to stress the civil aspects."

Sen. Hennings: "You would not recommend it, but you would not oppose it?"

Brownell: "That is right. We think more stress should be laid now on the civil remedies."

Sen. Hennings: "You think it might be more sufficiently compensatory to him to have a money judgment than to have those who deny him that right to suffer some penal punishment?"

Brownell: "That would not represent my views."

Sen. Hennings: "I don't mean to try to represent your views, but I didn't quite grasp your philosophy on that."

Brownell: "We think when we see an action of this kind impending, it would be much better to try to go in and get injunctive relief, to try to prevent it from happening again, than to try to get penal punishment for the offender."

NEGRO REGISTRATION BLOCKED

Sen. Hennings: "You know a group of men who are determined to keep one or several persons away from the polls on a given day, and you would get an injunction against?"

Brownell: "It very often happens that there is a good chance to do that, because when they come to register, the denial of their right to register is shown to be on the basis of color or race."

Sen. Hennings: "Your belief is that injunctive relief would be more effective than the possibility of a penal clause punishing them for such efforts?"

Brownell: "There are, of course, some penal sections in the statute now which could be used. I would use the same analogy that we have in the antitrust bills. There we have both the civil and criminal remedies."

Sen. Hennings: "I am sure that we are all very glad that you are evidencing this interest in this very important field. I wonder if you could tell me, Mr. Attorney General, why you did not see fit to reply to these numerous requests for advice and counsel; why you didn't answer?"

BROWNELL EVADES

Brownell: "In order to make an answer on that I would have to consult my staff, because I know there was a great deal of telephoning and correspondence on it."

Hennings: "Some of these letters were written by me. I know for a fact that you and I didn't talk about those things, nor was I called by telephone to discuss it."

Brownell: "That is my recollection also."

Hennings: "Then you don't remember exactly why these letters were not answered?"

Brownell: "No, I don't, Senator."

Senator Johnston of South Carolina: "You prepared this to handle it like you do in the antitrust division?"

Brownell: "I was using that as an analogy."

Johnston: "Now, have you sent anybody to jail under the antitrust laws?"

Brownell: "Yes, sir."

Sen. Johnston: "When?"

Brownell: "I think the first time in a good many years, but we have had at least two cases since I have been there."

Johnston: "Only two cases in which you have given a criminal sentence since you have been attorney general. So that is the way you want to handle this."

Brownell: "That would be rather misleading to leave the record that way, because there have been dozens and dozens of criminal penalties in the form of fines and jail sentences which were suspended, but there we take exactly the general attitude that we do here, that it is better to use the civil process wherever we can accomplish the goal."

One Dead, One Hurt In Train Wreck

WHEATON, Ill. — One man was killed and another injured early today in a wreck of two Chicago and North Western Railroad freight trains that blocked the line's main east-west tracks.

The dead man was identified as Andy McComb, about 35. Trainmen said he apparently was a transient riding in a boxcar when the double derailment occurred. A companion, Herschel Barnett, 37, Chicago, was hospitalized with undetermined injuries.

The derailment sent 28 cars of one 125-car train hurtling across the right-of-way. Another train, passing on an adjacent track, was wrecked when struck by rocketing box cars.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Written for NEA Service

"How many states have you seen?" asks the little tyke counting license plates. "How many states have you been in?" asks another lad who has travelled.

Achievement is measured by what people have seen, where they have been and what they have amassed. All of these accomplishments are important, but we might also measure the good we have done, the service we have rendered, the help we have given and the suffering we have relieved.

We all jump at the chance to gain for ourselves a lot of material possessions, some of which are as small as match book covers or used postage stamps.

We do not seem to be so anxious to take care of the neighbor's children in an emergency. We hesitate to offer to mow the lawn of a sick neighbor. We overlook the plight of others.

If a "giveaway" show were to limit participants to those who did good deeds there might be more incentive to serve mankind. Even then there might be few applicants. Maybe we are overlooking the fact that God offers a reward of peace and self satisfaction to those who serve others. Love is more than a mere verbal expression of human interest.

How many people have benefited from your love today? Are you collecting service charms for your bracelet? Or are you living off for material gains which quickly disappear or which lose their value?

To Construct Dormitories at Illinois Youth Commission Diagnostic Center

SPRINGFIELD — Construction of two dormitories to house 96 boys at the Illinois Youth Commission's new diagnostic and reception center at Joliet should begin in July, Commission Chairman Robert D. Patton said today.

Bids for the project should be let within 30 days. The two dormitories are expected to cost about $450,000.

Planned construction of two other dormitories, one for boys and one for girls, has been postponed because of high building costs, Patton said.

Juvenile offenders committed to the Youth Commission by the courts will be sent to the reception center for six to eight weeks for diagnosis prior to treatment and placement.

Reception units now operate at the Illinois State Training School for Boys at St. Charles and the Training School for Girls at Geneva.

Patton said when the center is completed, it will include the dormitories, a diagnostic building, kitchen and dining facilities, reception and school rooms, a new administration building and staff residences.

Temporary administrative and living facilities for the staff will be adapted from existing farm buildings. The property is the former Will County Farm.

Airliner Skids To Landing; Two Slightly Injured

PITTSBURGH — A TWA airliner, with 28 passengers and three crewmen aboard, belly skidded Thursday for 3,500 feet at a 100-mile-an-hour speed when its landing gear collapsed.

Two passengers received minor injuries in the landing at Greater Pittsburgh airport and a fireman was overcome by smoke spewing from an engine which burst into flame when the plane finally stopped.

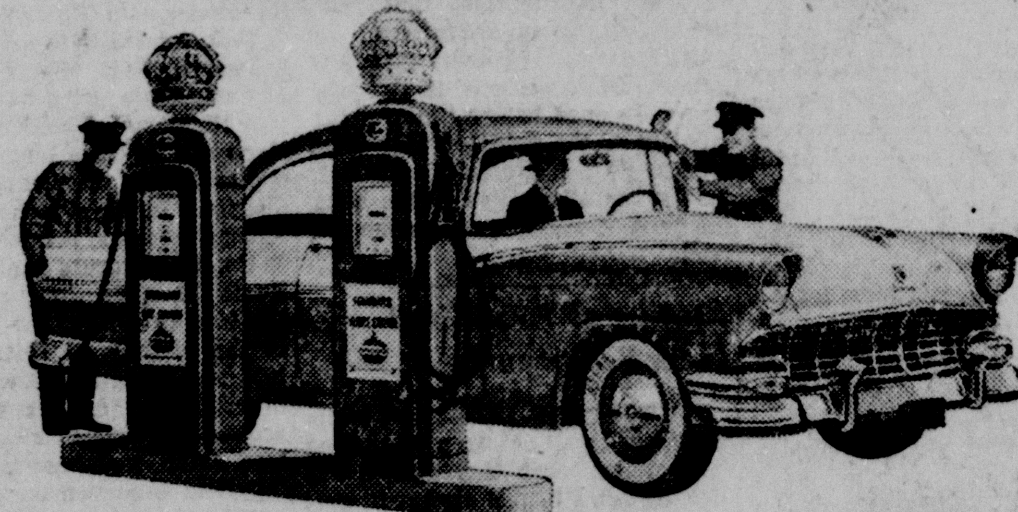

Lewis Rinebold, Civil Aeronautics Authority safety inspector, said the twin-engine Martin 404 apparently landed short of a runway, causing the landing gear to collapse. The left wheel was torn off. Injured slightly were passengers Ellis Waingrow, 4, New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. Lewis Newman, New York City. The girl was treated for cuts of the cheek and arm and Mrs. Newman for a leg bruise. They were later released from a hospital.

Richard Graham, 53, the airport fire chief, was detained in satisfactory condition after being felled by smoke.

Witnesses credited an airline hostess and firemen from the Air Force rescue team with averting more injuries by quickly opening escape hatches and leading passengers to safety.

The craft, on a flight from New York to Houston, Tex., was of the same type as the TWA airliner which crashed at the Pittsburgh air terminal last Easter Sunday eve, killing 22 persons.

Cool Quickies for Summer Days

Is anyone too old to remember with longing, those good crisp ice cream waffle sandwiches — everybody's favorite at the fairs when we were kids? Today's version, a slice of your favorite ice cream between two waffle squares, pleases the whole family.

Take that handy package of pancake mix from the cupboard shelf and in minutes stir up a batch of tantalizingly good waffles for these modern ice cream sandwiches.

GOLDEN WAFFLES

Makes 5 servings

2 cups pancake mix
2 eggs
2 cups milk
1/2 cup melted butter
Place all ingredients in a bowl and beat with a rotary beater until fairly smooth. Bake on a hot waffle iron until steaming stops. Serve at once.
For "special" desserts, here's a syrup topping that will pass all taste tests with flying colors. It is Old South Butterscotch Sauce, which is easy on your sugar supply and can be made in a jiffy, too.

OLD SOUTH BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

Yields 1 pint

1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup evaporated milk or cream

Boil together corn syrup, brown sugar, butter and salt until consistency of heavy syrup. Cool; add evaporated milk or cream before serving.
Waffles with melted butter and hot syrup are scrumptious for any time of the year. Another very satisfying main dish or dessert is waffles with fresh fruit during the season when there are plump, juicy berries.

Just heap the fresh sweetened fruit or a combination of whipped cream and fresh fruit over piping hot waffles and delectable the chorus of delighted "Oh's!" and "Ah's!" which this easy treat will bring.

Work Closely with County Group, GOP Women Told

Quick Facts about HOUSEPOWER

Today, the average home uses 3 times as much electricity as it did 15 years ago. That's why 4 out of 5 homes now suffer from low HOUSEPOWER. This is true even of brand new homes. Here are the conditions that cause you to have low HOUSEPOWER:

1. Inadequate electrical service entrance. To overcome this basic cause of low HOUSEPOWER, you should have service entrance capacity of at least 100 amperes. This requires 3-wire service from the street.
2. Overloaded circuits. Too many appliances on one circuit overload it and none of them get enough power. Motors may even burn out. If the overload is too great, the fuse will blow or circuit-breaker trip. You should have enough branch circuits to distribute enough electricity to all appliances.

3. Insufficient outlets. Some homeowners use extension cords and "octopus" outlets (2- and 3-way plugs), or plug into lighting outlets. Such practices are unsightly, inconvenient, and may be dangerous. Rearranging furniture doesn't help. The only safe solution is to add more circuits and outlets.

These are the symptoms of low HOUSEPOWER: lights dimming when appliances are turned on; blown fuses or tripped circuit-breakers; TV pictures shrinking when other appliances are turned on; appliances working inefficiently or taking too long to heat up.

If any of these symptoms are present in your home call your electric company, electrician or electrical contractor for a wiring check-up. If added wiring is necessary, your electrician or electrical contractor will do the job quickly, neatly, economically. It often takes less than a day. Remember, full HOUSEPOWER increases the value of your home.

Steve Norring had a cynical smile to his lips, with his mouth drawn down by the black cigar. He was always like this; meticulously groomed, a handsome tiger of a man. Her eyes became thinly veiled, her lips mocking.

"I live for today, Steve. There is no yesterday, no tomorrow. What you invest today, I'll return. No more, no less."

He removed the cigar from his mouth and laughed again. "Lily, you always intrigue me with your calculating values. You do nothing without figuring out first what you'll get in return. But you aren't a bad woman. I don't believe you'll ever be. I think you'll be a woman others will try hard to cultivate. But you're not human, Lily. It worries me."

"You worried! Steve Norring!" she laughed gaily.

Her head pressed back against his chest and her eyes were tightly closed as she played over her music. Presently Norring murmured, "I'm perturbed that Ed Rambaut is forgotten so soon."

Her shoulders lifted beneath his fingers. "Ed wouldn't like to see me in mourning. He got his value in return for his favors. The books are even, Steve."

"I noticed you waved to the stranger outside," Steve Norring said this slowly and suspected a slight tenseness in the flesh beneath his fingers. "Do you know anything about him? His name is Frank Ude."

"Is that his name?"

"Ude," Norring repeated in a restrained voice. "It's French, lower Mississippi I understand. I think it should be Ute—he's an Indian. I mean he's worth keeping an eye on, Lily. Jack tells me he was with Rambaut when those raiders attacked."

He was sure now a slight flaw had entered her timing, the first break he had ever detected in Lily's music. She said, quietly.

"Who killed Ed, Steve? They were jumped by your men, by Milo Hackett, weren't they?"

A tense moment drew out and then Norring spoke with strain in his voice. "Don't pry into things in Cashtown. I simply told you that about Rambaut thinking he meant something to you. You've got to find out about Ude. Was he with Ed, the way Jack claims?"

"And if he was I'm to tell you whether he's thrown in with Emmett Cash?" Lily smiled at his question. "You're naive, Steve, even though you're the biggest man on this range."

Frank was almost finished with his meal before he heard the fiddling next door. It was music executed with such skill that it brought him a sense of wonderment. It had been the cook's humming that had called his attention to the fiddle playing. Earlier he had been aware of the girl at work on the Alhambra piano. The music had a peculiar way of haunting him. Much as he tried to rack his brain he couldn't remember where he had heard it before. The strains coming now from the rear of the music shop were an echo of the Alhambra.

The cook went clattering past humming the music. Frank said, "Does he do that often? Fiddle the same thing she's playing?"

Juan's grin seemed to leap to his mouth. "Si. He fiddles while she sings. Sometime the sun is chasing the night. I am hear them in my kitchen when I skin the potatoes."

The poor fool. Perhaps it was because of their common bond that Hyman felt himself drawn to this woman. They both heard the same message in the wind, they had ears tuned to sounds none could hear but they. He loved her, Frank thought. A woman was what man made of her in his mind. So long as the idyll ran fresh and pure through his brain she stayed on her insecure throne. For some this was forever, while other men came face to face with the harsh truth early and the irretrievable magic was lost.

Sounds of boots scraping the sill brought a charge of exhilaration to Frank's mood. There was no explaining it, simply the fact that with some inner instinct he sensed Emmett Cash standing behind him. He forced off the impulse to turn as long as he could, then swung deliberately to face the door. Emmett stood with his back to the frame, a gusty grin on his face. As Frank stared at the flame-red hair that tumbled beneath the slanted hat he was sure Emmett's wariness never wandered far from the outside wall.

Cash said sharply, "So you're here. Good fellow!" and the silent warning Frank had sensed dissolved beneath the strength of the man's personality.

"Got in 'last night," Cash continued. "Now we're all together. All but Jonathan Yates—he's not in very good shape." Cash's expression darkened as his thoughts returned to the man who had been wounded. A couple of days in the saddle riding the hills had not done his condition much good.

From the kitchen the cook let out a shrill cry. "Senor Emmett!" Emmett was plainly annoyed. "Listen here, Lopez—" he commenced.

There was a second unexpected cry from the kitchen that drew Frank's gaze around.

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — The Air Mail Pioneers, an organization of the airmen and ground men who pioneered the air mail from 1918 to 1927, will hold a national convention here Sept. 13 and 14. More than 250 aerial pioneers are expected to attend the convention which will be a highlight of Aviation Week.

Report Bulganin Challenges U. S. To Cut Forces

State Department To Disclose Text Of Soviet Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin challenges the United States in his latest letter to President Eisenhower to match Russia's 1.2 million-man military slash diplomatic circles reported today.

President Eisenhower and U. S. military officials already have made clear they have no intention of matching the Soviet manpower cut.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zorin delivered Bulganin's two-page letter and an accompanying 16-page document to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday.

Neither the State Department or Soviet Embassy would disclose the message's subject matter. The text was expected to be made public late today or Saturday.

Contains New Proposals

However, diplomatic circles reported the message contained new disarmament proposals including the manpower-cut challenge.

Diplomatic sources said Bulganin told the President that an equal manpower slash in U. S. forces would boost trust and confidence between the Soviet bloc and the

Stevenson's Managers to Discuss Strategy to Woo Additional Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign advisers will confer in Chicago this week end about ways of wooing delegates who are uncommitted, pledged to favorite sons or still to be chosen. They also are expected to eye those delegates who are committed to a first ballot vote for Sen. Estes Kefauver at the Democratic national convention but are not firmly tied thereafter. These involve such states as Indiana, which will have 26 votes, and Maryland with 18. Stevenson topped Kefauver in the California presidential primary this week and thereby established himself as the leading contender for the presidential nomination. Although Kefauver said he would continue his campaign, many Democrats believe he was killed off in California.

While his advisers discuss strategy to be followed between now and the national convention in August, Stevenson will remain in California for a holiday.

He and his backers now regard Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as their principal opponent. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri may be a formidable dark horse possibility but only if and when the Stevenson campaign falls apart.

Much attention will be given to the 10 states which still must choose delegates with 238 convention votes. With the primaries now finished, all these will be named by state Democratic conventions or executive committees.

These states are New Mexico, Arizona, Tennessee, Washington, Kentucky, Mississippi, Colorado, Virginia, and Arkansas. New York still must select delegates at large with 12 votes.

As of now, it appears to be a conservative estimate that Stevenson can count on 450 or more first ballot votes at the national convention. The majority needed to nominate is 686 1-2.

The United Press tabulation now credits Stevenson with 377 votes from delegates committed or known to have a first ballot preference.

The independent oil producers, drillers, oilfield services, employees and royalty owners will hold their annual meeting Thursday, June 14, at Mt. Vernon, Ind. The meeting will be by the Independent Oil Producers and Land Owners Ass'n. Tri-State (Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky).

It is reported to be the largest meeting by the groups ever held in the area. Approximately 500 advance reservations have already been placed.

Several problems affecting the oil industry, state and national, will be discussed during the business session. Foreign oil imports and percentage depletion are two important subjects to domestic oil producers. Property taxes are becoming an increasingly important subject.

The feature attraction to many oil men will be a guided tour of a modern up-to-date refinery between 3 and 5 p. m. in the afternoon.

Oil men and their guests will enjoy an all day old fashioned open pit Kentucky style barbecue starting at noon. There will also be an all day golf tournament on the refinery golf course and attendance prizes.

Reservation deadline is set for June 8.

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Fred L. Wham, Centralia, who retired recently after 29 years as judge of the Eastern Illinois U. S. District Court, will return to his alma mater June 16 as the speaker at the annual Southern Illinois University Alumni Day dinner.

The 6:30 p. m. meeting in Woody Hall dining room will climax a day of special events for SIU alumni returning for commencement weekend activities. Wham was a member of the 1904 graduating class.

A native of Marion county, Wham received his LL.B. degree in 1909 from the University of Illinois and later did post-graduate work at the George Washington School of Law. He was admitted to the Illinois Bar and Arkansas Bar in 1909 and practiced law in Arkansas and in Washington, D. C., before opening an office in Centralia in 1917. He was appointed to the District Court bench in 1927.

Presiding at the dinner session will be the SIU Alumni association president, Aubrey Holmes, Springfield, executive secretary of the Illinois Teachers Retirement system. Other dinner meeting activities will include: musical selections by Robert Walker and Peggy Vallet, SIU students from Herring; presentation of the 1956 SIU graduating class; presentation of association life membership certificates; toasts by re-union classes for years ending in one and six, and introduction of newly-elected association officers.

Other events scheduled for the day are: meetings of the Alumni association legislative council and board of directors in the University School auditorium in the forenoon; a meeting of the SIU Foundation board of directors at 2 p.

m. in the library auditorium; and class reunions, beginning at 3 p. m.

Alumni also will participate in the June 17 commencement day activities, beginning with 3 p. m. ceremonies for laying the cornerstone of a new agriculture building. The commencement program will be held at 7:00 p. m. in McAndrew Stadium.

An estimated 2,100,000 persons visited state parks in Minnesota in 1955.

Buhl Rated Braves' Ace With 4-1 Win Over Dodgers; Redlegs Move Into First

By United Press
Bob Buhl's ability to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers stamped him today as the ace of the Milwaukee pitching staff and the fellow who is keeping the Braves in the tight-bunched National league race.

The 27-year-old right hander was rated behind veteran stars Lew Burdette, Warren Spahn and Gene Conley in the Milwaukee mound setup but his 4-1 decision over the Dodgers Thursday gave him the following distinctions:

1. He is the only Milwaukee pitcher to beat the world champions this year—and he has done it three times in three tries.
2. He leads the Braves' staff with five victories and a .714 percentage.
3. He is the only pitcher to win a game for the Braves this month and each time he halted a Milwaukee three-game losing streak.

Yields Four Hits

Buhl yielded only four hits and four walks Thursday as the Braves halted the Dodgers' four-game winning streak and retained possession of fourth place—only two games behind the first-place Cincinnati Redlegs. He helped win his own game with a two-run double that capped a three-run rally. Carl Erskine suffered his fourth straight loss since he pitched the second no-hitter of his career on May 12.

The hard-hitting Redlegs, who haven't won a pennant since 1940, took over first place when they came from behind twice to down the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-5. It was the fourth straight triumph and ninth in 12 games for Cincinnati.

Catcher Smoky Burgess snapped a 5-5 tie with a homer to open the eighth inning and the Redlegs sewed up the decision when Roy McMillan's single, Johnny Temple's triple and Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly added two tallies.

The Chicago Cubs vacated the cellar when Bob Rush spun a six-hitter to beat the Pirates, 5-2, and drop the losers into third place. The idle St. Louis Cardinals are in second.

Eddie Miksis walloped a homer, triple and two singles to lead the Cubs' 11-attack which also included a homer by Walt Moryn.

Yanks Trample As

In the American League, the New York Yankees stretched their first-place to 4 1-2 games when they pummeled the Kansas City Athletics, 9-1. Yogi Berra hit his 16th homer of the year and fourth in four games and Hank Bauer also homered for the Yankees. Bob Turley went the route for the first time this year to win his third game.

George Zuverink, making his 23rd relief appearance, protected the lead for two innings as the Baltimore Orioles ended a five-game losing streak with a 5-2 decision over the Cleveland Indians. Gus Triandos, Tito Francona and Willie Miranda had two hits each for the Orioles.

Ninth inning triples by Nellie Fox and Dave Philley plus two sacrifice flies enabled the Chicago White Sox to beat the Washington Senators, 7-5, and Ted Lepcio singled home the winning run in the 10th inning as the Boston Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, in other AL games.

Beal Named on All-State Team

Charles (Tony) Beal, Harrisburg Township high school all-around athlete who was graduated last week, has been named on an all-state track team.

The all-state team was selected by Paddock Publications, which publishes eight newspapers in Illinois.

The organization has sent to Lawrence Caluffetti, athletic director, a certificate which he will present to Beal.

The 154-11 throw of the discus by Beal this year was what put him on the all-state team.

Only other Egypt athletes on the team were Don Miller, Cairo dash man, and Charles Hamilton, Herrin weight man.

East Lansing, Mich. — (NEA)—Carol Heiss, 16-year-old figure skating queen, plans to enter Michigan State in 1957. She makes an early appearance on campus as star of the Michigan State ice arena's summer show, June 23.

Three Young Mothers Admit Murder Plot

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Police today held three young mothers who admitted that they took part in a fantastic neighborhood murder plot that ended with the killing of one of the women's husbands.

Officers said Mrs. Alonzo Wesley Turner confessed that she fatally shot her sleeping gambler husband and two of her neighborhood friends admitted they helped plan and execute the strange slaying.

Mrs. Turner, mother of six children and expecting a seventh, at first told police that a stranger came to her door and killed the 34-year-old nightclub operator. However, she later confessed that she pumped four shots from a .22 calibre rifle into her husband as he slept.

The killing, according to officers, climaxed several months of planning by Mrs. Turner and neighbors Mrs. Clestell Gay and Mrs. Audrey Roakes. All of the women are in their 20s.

Mrs. Gay, the mother of one, admitted buying the rifle and shells for Mrs. Turner, and officers said she was apparently in the Turner home at the time of the killing. They said that she was to receive $300 for her help.

Following the murder, the rifle was taken to the home of Mrs. Roakes, the mother of five, and hidden there. According to officers Mrs. Roakes aided in the slaying because she was a "good close friend" of Mrs. Turner.

Farmer Found Dead on Tractor

FISHER, Ill. (AP)—Harry Shaffer, 51, was found dead on his tractor Thursday when his brother came to his farm to borrow some equipment.

Champaign County Coroner Don Wycoff scheduled a post mortem today to determine cause of death. Authorities said Shaffer apparently died while cultivating his crops.

His brother, Melvin, said the unmarried Shaffer often worked in his fields at night. Officials reported he had been dead 12 to 15 hours when his body was discovered.

Sentence Girl Who Shot Mother In Murder Plot

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Marlene Chomko, the 16-year-old high school girl who seriously wounded her mother in an abortive murder plot last January, was sentenced Thursday to an indefinite term at the state Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, Pa.

Marlene bade her mother a tearful farewell shortly after the juvenile court Judge Otto P. Robinson passed sentence.

Marlene and her mother met behind closed doors in the house of detention for the first time since Mrs. Margaret Chomko was shot in the back in the kitchen of her home in nearby Taylor, Pa.

Marlene was the state's star witness against her co-defendants in conspiracy. She told authorities she plotted with Salvatore Diana, 21, and John Pitta, 34, to slay her parents and collect their estates.

Diana and Pitta were convicted on charges of conspiracy and assault with intent to kill and are awaiting sentence.

CHAMPAIGN (AP)—One-year-old Byron Council Jr. died here Thursday from drinking a can of fuel oil he found in his grandparents' house.

UAW Urges Plan To Halt Growing Unemployment

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers today recommended an immediate five-point program, including tax cuts for consumers, to halt growing unemployment.

The UAW announced its recommendations at a meeting of 32 mayors from four states which have large numbers of jobless in the auto building and other industrial fields.

In its "proposed program to restore and maintain full employment in the automotive communities," the UAW called for immediate:

1. Tax changes upping personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $800 per person, removing excise taxes on consumer products from autos down, and plugging of business tax "loopholes."

2. Federal action establishing and providing "adequate unemployment compensation benefits."

3. Suspension of payments on home mortgages for laid-off workers.

4. Acceleration of current defense work for immediate relief of the jobless situation.

5. Acceleration of public works programs.

The UAW also proposed a "long-range stability program" calling for a $1.25 minimum wage; cooperation from municipal-to-federal governments on a gigantic industrial plant rehabilitation program; public works programs on schools, highways, hospitals and housing; restoration of 90 per cent farm price supports; and a congressional investigation of prices and profits.

Nine leading electric utilities east of the Mississippi River in 1955 used 15 million tons of bituminous coal, or roughly 10 per cent of the 140 million used by all coal-fired electric generating plants last year.

Three Bandits Take $4,200 In Bank Robbery

LAKE VILLA, Ill. (AP)—Three bandits escaped with $4,200 from the Lake Villa Trust and Savings Bank seconds before a town vigilante system could go into action Thursday.

The minute the bandits left the bank, employees pushed buttons setting off alarms in nearby stores.

Store owners grabbed rifles and rushed to the street, but the bandits' car was already speeding out of town.

The gunmen looted cash drawers, but were forced to pass up more funds in a vault protected by a time lock. Two of the robbers carried out the holdup while the third remained at the wheel of a car outside.

The robbery was the third Illinois bank holdup in three days. Gunmen held up banks in Chicago and Triumph, Ill., Tuesday.
